Quit worrying about bike lanes till you figure out how to tax the shit out of the bike riders and bike groups like you do cars
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded A Very dissatisfied
I was born and raised here in Rochester and have lived almost my entire life here. I couldn't be more sickened by how our local government has continued to waste our tax payer's money year after year. From everything to allowing some of the worst street and highway planning and management I have ever seen from a city our size (ie, West Circle Drive, 2nd St NW, stoplights at too many intersections/not enough underpasses/overpasses), to the complete waste of tax payer's money on the horrible mismanagement of The Mayo Civic Center (Little to no focus on booking national recording artists benefiting us tax payers & Constantly hemorrhaging money annually all while continuing to keep the same management that causes the MCC to fail, etc.), not fixing the affordable housing crisis in our city and not stopping the pricing monopoly for our cable costs... just to name a few.

The city is still giving too much money to the old boys' club in terms of DMC and tax breaks for new construction. The purpose of government is to do what's best for all people, not just the richest people.
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded B Dissatisfied
The focus needs to be more on the tangible realities of public safety, law enforcement, crime prevention, street maintenance, snow removal, etc, rather than on the feelings of residents.
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded B Dissatisfied
Seems that the new Mayor wants changes. Is overwhelming to see a perfect family city disproportionately grow not considering the lack of room at schools. The focus on DMC has created a careless monster, less safety, less schools space, less family friendly, no fine arts, a tax hog.

City council caters to those with money and above average income

We have not received any feedback when we have asked questions of our Second Ward Councilman. We have been very upset about permits for elite apartments and condominiums! What about affordable rentals !
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded C Neither satisfied nor dissatisfied
The daily employees are great, it's those making the decisions that think Mayo Clinic is what matters rather than those they displace by building luxury apartments, approve yet another bar opening but don't try to bring in family focused activities.
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded E Very satisfied
I think the new leadership is poised to be great all around. A key will be making the best long-term decisions, specifically for the tax base, and not necessarily the first to come.
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded A Very dissatisfied
The tap water is white. It ruined my hair and dried it out so bad and made it look red! Disgusting. They gave me a ticket in front of my own house that I had just bought and new car. The license plate was even registered to that address. They don't give you much of a window of time and it is not easy to figure out. Also the Christian-value conservative staff member at the passport office told me I couldn't wear a tank top in my passport photo! Um, what? That's factually wrong and if you ever try and force your values on me again and exert it in a federal manner, I'll sue the hell out of you.

Hotels, apartments and some commercial buildings, those are the improvements we see in this city, nothing else. We are lacking of good shops, nicer restaurants, performing arts...
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded B Dissatisfied
Good old boys club.

Will you ever post a summary of the results of all these questions and how you're using the answers? Thanks.
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded D Satisfied
Looks like we have great leaders, but the overwhelming focus on DMC versus family friendly entertainment and fine arts is unfortunate.
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded B Dissatisfied
I see some good stuff considered by city council but still believe they are out of touch with the residents when it comes to over taxing us and spending revenue on things we don't need and most of us oppose. Property taxes are a serious burden here that makes many of us hypersensitive when it comes to spending money on things we neither want nor need.
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded D Satisfied
Overall satisfied, but disappointed that 125 Alive doesn't get the funding to finish the building.
-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded A Very dissatisfied
I am dismayed at the lack of responsible use of tax money at the city level. There seems to be a focus on extravagance items such as the Chateau Theatre and bike lanes on every street instead of on basic infrastructure upkeep and improvements. For example, neighborhood parks could surely be vastly improved with the $6 million that was spent on acquiring the Chateau Theater. The city parks are utilized much more than the Chateau has been since it was acquired and probably will be much more than the Chateau ever will be. Please stop wasting our tax money!

-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded B Dissatisfied
I think our leaders have much potential, but it feels like DMC and Mayo Clinic influence many (most) ideas and decisions. I'd rather see more focus on families, the arts and what the people of Rochester want rather than what Mayo Clinic wants.

-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded D Satisfied
Especially the new makeup of the city council and mayor's office.

No one gets a 2% raise, why should my taxes and your salary.

20 minute 911 response time when a man was stabbed in front of my home

-  Anonymous user's Opinion Responded E Very satisfied
I find the government employees intelligent, helpful, and nice. I feel the leaders are trying to keep Rochester a great place to live and improve it. There is room for improvement to make sure people at every income level share in the developments going forward, and not just those on the upper end.
